Example B

This is an excellent essay. There are some minor issues; for example with the initial paragraph on justification. However, overall this is not enough to prevent it being awarded full marks as the rest of the essay clearly meets the descriptor for the top band of the assessment instrument. There is clear discussion of two areas of knowledge – the natural sciences and the human sciences. The essay also keeps a sharp focus on the title throughout. Examples are used effectively to support the arguments being made.
